Venezia, Jesolo, Portogruaro, Concordia Sagittaria

€URO 156.00 PER PERSON, DOUBLE ROOM

STORY OF THE TERRITORY

The eastern part of the Venetian landscape, is a land of a millenian civilization that survived until after the Roman Imperialism.

On these lands you will find ancient vineyards that produce excellent vines which are celebrated in many part of the world, art cities and the remains of ancient Roman Colonies, but also the fantastic gold beaches along the coast where you can dive in and sunbath in a real relaxing atmosphere.

The countryside, still un know to many, will surprise you for the warmth and genuine hospitality it is capable to offer you. You can walk your way discovering the ancient cities along the 'Via Annia', visit city centers very well conserved, for example the city of Portogruaro that gathers together small canals of sweet water, Caorle is to discover for its Byzantine architecture, or you could even take a stroll amongst the panoramic rural lands, better if you take a bike, right up around and about the lagoon eave.

You will be amazed to discover places of such high natural interest. You should not loose the opportunity whilst you are here, to visit Burano and Torcello. Two of the most ravishing islands of the lagoon that sign up the horizon every day. Historically know through out the world.

The Venetian Lagoon is a place that needs to be 'lived' in its beauty, for the art and for the eno-gastronomy.

SUGGESTED ITINERARY

Visiting the Island of Torcello you will learn where the 'origin' of Venice begins. It was inhabited since Roman times. Not to be missed the Cathedral, the baptistery and the church, it seems to be that this monument was the 'first' built in Venice and is dated back to 639. The inside is rich of mosaics you can admire. Rather peculiar to see is the 'Throne of Attila'.

In Burano you will be able to admire the 'lace schools', the most beautiful colored houses that run along the small canals.. you will discover unique views that surely will be able to take you back to the Doges ancient times.

Whilst visiting these islands you will have the possibility to try the excellent food they have to offer you. Many islands have an agricultural vocation, you may try the local fish and not to be missed are the local 'chichetti', small finger food appetizers that go with a small glass of wine.

If you are visiting the countryside, not to be missed is the Roman Museum of Altino, that preserved the remains of one of the most important locations of the 'Roman Adriatic'. If you lead towards north east you will come across the ruins of paleo-cristian and roman age that are conserved in Concordia Sagittaria, the ancient Medieval Abbey.
